

Shane C. Hand, Ph.D.

Instructor

Email: shand@alvincollege.edu

Office: C-217

Dr. Shane C. Hand is a cultural historian of the twentieth-century United States, with a focus on race, children’s literature, and imperialism. His work has been published in the Progressive Librarian as well as the Journal of Mississippi History. He is currently working on a book, titled “Curious George’s Imperial Adventure: An Intellectual Biography of Fictional Monkey’s Translation from German into American Imperialism.” Dr. Hand teaches U.S. History and World Civilizations.

Education

- Ph.D., The University of Southern Mississippi
 - Minor in Cultural & European History
- M.A. & M.L.I.S., The University of Southern Mississippi
- B.A., The University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
- A.S., Jefferson State Community College, Birmingham

Publications

- Hand, Shane, and Ryan Tickle. "Moonshining." World of Jim Crow: A Daily Life Encyclopedia. Greenwood Press, 2019.
- Hand, Shane. "'As White a Servant as Any in the State': Near-White Mississippi Runaways, 1800-1860," Runaway Slaves in Mississippi: Demography, Culture, and Community. Special Issue of Journal of Mississippi History no. (Summer 2013).
- _____. "Transmitting Whiteness: Children, Librarians, and Race, 1900-1930s," Progressive Librarian no. 38/39 (Spring 2012): 34-63.